TICK-TALKS

DURING the year the fine arts department has prepared many exhibits for the enjoyment of the student body. There are some regular patrons, but the usual comment is, "Oh yes, I meant to go up and see the paintings, but I was too lazy to climb the stairs." Since the completion of the Hammond Arcade building, another opportunity has been given for us to view real art—much of it by our own graduates. There are no stairs to climb, but since a few extra steps are required to go into the arcade, we often pass that, too. Through the efforts of the Hammond Arcade management and the fine arts department, we are able to see the best of local art, and sometimes imported work. Our excuse is the extra steps—but think how many more we are willing to take to go over to the store for a coke.

AFTER graduation, most of our seniors will leave the campus, some for very distant points. Probably the longest trip will be that taken by Nemesio Borge—back to the Philippine Islands. Nemesio will be able to leave feeling that his years of college life have been well spent. He came to the university handicapped more than the average student, yet during his years here, has done much more than the average student. In addition to getting his education, he has given his time freely for the enjoyment of others. His musical and artistic talents have been greatly appreciated by Missoula audiences. By sharing his blessings with others he has won a wide circle of admirers who are sorry to say farewell. Bon voyage, Nemesio!

MOST of Montana is being represented this week-end at the Miles City Golden Jubilee celebration. The university's contribution to the cause are the Grizzly band and the Student store baseball team. Our band will be one of many, but because of its fine training and uniforms, should stand out as a credit to our institution. Having already proved its merit in the local field, our baseball team hopes to continue showing its merit against opponents from the eastern part of the state. Aside from adding to the gala affair and giving the boys a good time, the trip is a good piece of public relations work. The people of western Montana can come to the university and see it for themselves, but distance prohibits the eastern Montanans from doing that. The two organizations that went to Miles City will show just a small part of our college, but at that, they should stimulate a lot of interest in the Missoula unit of the Greater University of Montana.

NOW is the time the all-important job comes into the limelight. The fact that a college education does pay faces one of its big tests. Last week's Kaimin carried a story of three seniors receiving positions. That is only a small percentage of the class, of course, but applications are just beginning to be answered. In the next few weeks, the hopes of many will be shattered or fulfilled. It may seem discouraging for an economics major to have to put in his summer digging ditches, but all such experiences won't stop the person who is capable of reaching the top. If the top of the ladder is reached in one leap, the foothold won't be strong enough on which to hang. Climbing it rung by rung may be tedious, but it gets one there in the end. What a college education does is enable the graduate to grasp the first rung and give a little extra strength to hang on to the others.

IT MUST have been gratifying to find sponsors of the convocation to find that the student body really is interested in scholastic ability. Not all the students were there by any means, but the good crowd that did go was generous with its applause. The results should ascertain the continuation of that method of awarding prizes. And the prizes were certainly worth achieving.

Scholarships Established By Faculty

Forty-five Undergraduate Students To Benefit Under Plan Of University

Forty-five scholarships for the next academic year will be awarded on or about July 1 to students of the state university. The scholarships were recently established by the faculty and carry exemption from registration and incidental fees (approximately forty-five dollars, annually).

The students who receive the scholarships must be recommended by the head of their department or school and appointed by the deans' conference. While there are several requirements which must be filled, no student can apply for the scholarship himself. The entire matter of recommendation and selection is referred to the faculty who started the state university scholarships plan a few weeks ago.

Since the scholarships are designed primarily as undergraduate scholarships, seniors are not normally eligible.

The requirements for eligibility are:

- (1) The student must have been in residence for all three quarters of the year 1933-34.
- (2) He or she must have completed not less than 40 credits during this year.
- (3) He or she must have an index of 1.75 for the present year.
- (4) He or she must show scholarship, character and promise.

Alumni Officers To Be Selected To Fill Positions

Twelve Graduates Aspire to Fill the Six Positions Left Vacant In Association

Officers of the Alumni association of the state university will be elected soon after June 2. Ballots have been sent out to all dues-paying members of the association. Twelve state university graduates are competing for the six positions which are to be filled.

J. C. Garlington, Missoula, '30, and Margaret Ronan, Missoula, '02, will oppose each other for the presidency. Wallace Brennan, Missoula, '25, and Helen Dahlberg, Polson, '28, are running for vice-president; John Patterson, Missoula, '20, and Guy Sheridan, Butte, '02, for the position of three-year delegate, and Charles Avery, Missoula, '00; Margaret Johnson Chinske, Miles City, '29; Elsie Eminger Ekegren, Helena, '27; Donald Foss, Hamilton, '30; Carl Ross Drummond, '30, and Virginia McAuliffe Walterskirchen, Missoula, '20, are running for the position of delegate for one year. Three delegates are elected to the latter office.

The ballots must be returned to Kirk Badgley, secretary of the association, by June 2.

Junior Prom Queen Is Selected By Class Committee Members

Selected Candidate to Choose Six Attendants to Assist in Coronation; Name Will Be Withheld Until Dance

Members of the Junior Prom committee met in Main hall last night and elected the Prom Queen, who will reign at the annual dance held by the junior class in honor of the seniors. The name of the winning candidate was withheld, and will not be made public until the evening of the dance. The queen will choose six attendants who will assist in her crowning at the dance.

The names of seven women were brought up before the members of the committees, and two ballots were held until the queen was selected. This method of choosing the queen differs from that of the last few years when the names of four candidates were chosen and made public. The queen was elected by senior men before this year.

The qualifications for the Junior Prom Queen were that she be a senior woman, representative of the class.

Details Discussed

After the election of the queen, committee members discussed preliminary details for the Prom which is to be held June 1 at the men's gymnasium. Buck Stowe's orchestra was announced as the music for the dance, and plans were made for the details accompanying the crowning of the queen.

Kniffen Is Elected French Club Head

Boileau and LaCasse Also Chosen Organization Officers

Doris Kniffen, Bonner, was elected president of the French club at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Louise Arnoldson. Other officers include George Boileau, Milltown, vice-president, and Antoinette La Casse, Missoula, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Arnoldson spoke in French about her two years in Paris while working for her Ph.D. degree, with reference to the subject matter of her thesis, the use of libraries, and the manner in which she attacked her subject.

Plans for the coming year were discussed, and at the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Outgoing officers are Eleanor MacDonald, Yellowstone Park, Wyoming, president; Helen Schroeder, Missoula, vice-president, and Doris Kniffen, Bonner, secretary-treasurer.

Mumm, Thomas Request FERA Employees' Aid

Workers Not Able to Put in Full Time Are Asked to Report; Others to Take Jobs

A double-barreled plea for cooperation in FERA work was leveled Thursday at student workers by Hazel Mumm, head of the Student Employment bureau, and Dick Thomas, head timekeeper at the state university. Both urge that students who will be unable to do the FERA work assigned to them "report immediately to either Miss Mumm or Mr. Thomas."

The request is made in order that it will be possible for the work to be reassigned to other students who will be on the campus and able to do the work during June.

Miss Mumm said that students who could only do a part of the work during June as well as those who will be able to do no work that month are those to whom the plea is directed.

"Either disinterested or a 'dog-in-the-manger' attitude on their part would be detrimental to the whole purpose of the FERA," she said.

Thomas said that since there are only six more working days during June, it will be hard for students to complete their hours, "but it is possible that a total of $975 can be paid for June work."

"If the maximum is to be paid, the students who are working must be able to work during that whole first week next month," he said. "Others who want to earn their money must be given the opportunity. That opportunity can be given them if we secure the co-operation of all those who are now employed."

Jerry Dahl, '30, is working for the Northern Rocky Mountain Forest and Range Experiment station in Missoula.

PRIZES CONFERRED TO ANNUAL WINNERS OF SCHOOL AWARDS

W. P. Clark Has Charge of University Convocation Where Honors Are Announced; Speech By Dean Jesse, and Musical Program Are Features of Assembly

Classes were suspended from 11 to 12 o'clock yesterday, in order that all students would be able to attend the convocation at which prizes were conferred. Exclusive academic honors and prizes were awarded to those students who had earned them by their exceptional ability throughout the school year.

W. P. Clark, professor of foreign languages, had charge of the convocation. He announced the winners of the prizes and also conferred them. Professor Clark also discussed the awards for scholarships which will be awarded in July.

Musical Program

During the convocation there was a short program consisting of three selections by the men's glee club: "Drums," "Who Sails With Drake," and "The Cossack." John Gravelle sang two numbers, "Wind" and "Dawn."

Dean R. H. Jesse gave a brief speech on "Competition in University Life." "We have met here today for the purpose of awarding prizes publicly to students who have earned them. Some of you have submitted writings on conscious and premeditated rivalry with your fellows. Others have been judged by the merit of their daily work," he said in part.

"Competitive spirit appears so early in our lives that we begin to wonder whether or not it is instinctive. As we grow older, the instinct is still with us. A game is very rarely seen where competition is not keen and rivalry is not strong.

"All of our older civilizations from which ours has grown were organized on a competitive basis, tradition, and inheritance. Physical contests alone did not exemplify the competition of the Greeks, but also arts, tragedies and comedies. The competition, I suppose, is the same in all civilizations as the Greeks, only to a less formalized degree. By inheritance and tradition, competition is a part of our make-up.

Student Union Plan Approved

Plans and hopes built up through the years, and seven months of encouragements and disappointments were brought to a climax yesterday when the long-awaited proposed Student Union building moved a step nearer realization as the project was given the sanction of the Montana supreme court in Helena.

The court upheld the law authorizing the State Board of Education to erect the structure here with a loan of $240,000 and a grant of $60,000 from the Public Works administration.

The decision clears the way for actual construction work as the project has already been approved by the PWA.

In a friendly case, testing the validity of the statute, enacted by the state legislature in special session last winter, William Veeder, Big Fork, a senior in the law school, sought to enjoin the Board of Education and the Board of Examiners from putting the plan into effect.

Of the $300,000 required for the construction of the building, $167,000 will be spent for materials and $123,000 for labor, the Associated Press stated. The project is expected to furnish 175,000 man-hours of labor.

The state is expressly exempted from the debt as the building is to be paid for by a fee of $5 charged annually to all students. Other fees and the income from the completed building are expected to provide sufficient revenue to meet the debt.

Although no university administrative official could be reached late last night, it is generally thought that bids will be advertised and construction work started as soon thereafter as possible.

McFarlands Will Be HERE THIS WEEK-END

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McFarland, former state university students, will be week-end visitors in Missoula. Mr. McFarland recently received the Erskine Ross prize for his essay on an assigned subject.

Mrs. McFarland was, before her marriage, Miss Patricia Regan.

Nine-Weeks' Term Starts Next Month

Enrollment Increase Is Noticed As Summer School Doors Prepare to Open

"Prospects are bright for a large enrollment at the 1934 summer session at the state university," an announcement from the president's office said Thursday. Summer session opens on June 11 for both the nine-weeks' session and the six-weeks' session.

On May 23 last year, the statement said, 528 inquiries concerning the summer session had been received by the registrar's office. On the corresponding date this year 690 inquiries had been received, an increase of 162 over 1933.

Students who plan to attend either session should register on June 11. The long session lasts from June 11 to August 10. There are two six-weeks' periods, one from June 11 to July 20 and the other from July 2 to August 10.

Students who register for less than five credits or as listeners pay $11.25 fees, while registration for full credit in either of the short courses or in the long course is $22.50. Special fees are paid by students taking lessons in piano, violin, voice or wind instruments.

Sigma Delta Chi Initiates Montana Newspaper Men

Six Students Also Join Fraternity; Efficiency Cup Is Presented Chapter at Banquet

Three of Montana's most prominent newspaper men, Oliver S. Warden, Great Falls; Warren B. Davis, Missoula, and Edwin G. Leiphelmer, Butte, were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi fraternity as associate members at a ceremony which took place Tuesday afternoon at the Sigma Nu house.

Pledges who were initiated with the associate members were Leslie Dana, Deer Lodge; Howard Hazelbaker, Missoula; Jerry House, Helena; Tom Riemer, Saco; Tom Wigal, Missoula, and Bill Remington, Belt.

At the banquet held at the Grill cafe, the Montana Sigma Delta Chi chapter was presented with an efficiency trophy. This cup is awarded each year to the most outstanding and efficient chapter in the United States.

A. L. Stone, dean of the journalism school, and the three new associate members were the speakers of the evening.

To become a member of Sigma Delta Chi, students must be upper classmen in the journalism school. They must also be journalism majors and high in scholarship.

A Prominent Servant Passes

With the passing of Joseph M. Dixon, Montana has lost one of its most prominent and influential citizens, one upon whom the state placed the responsibility of almost every higher office and honor. Mr. Dixon served his state and his country as congressman, senator, governor of the state and assistant secretary of the interior, and never failed to fight for his convictions and the convictions of his state.

Mr. Dixon came into national prominence in 1912 when, after having been United States congressman and senator, he became chairman of the national progressive committee and aided Theodore Roosevelt in his attempt to win a third term as president of the United States. After that time, he returned to his home in Missoula, taking an active interest in business and professional affairs of this community. Going back into the political life of the state, he was elected governor of the state for one term, and since then has been less active in the affairs of politics.

The many services that Mr. Dixon has rendered to the state university will probably never be known. He was greatly interested in the affairs of the school, and was at all times anxious for the greater development and success of the state university. His contributions to the school were many, but he never received official recognition of his aid and probably never will. The collection of the W. W. Dixon books that were added to the library were received with his assistance and influence, and the mountain on which a part of the campus is laid was also given to the university with his help. He has performed scores of other services for the university, most of which will never be attributed to him, for his aim was not the fame and gratitude he would receive from the school, but the satisfaction he would receive for doing something for the institution in which he was interested.

A great man has passed on—his name and life will remain as a landmark of Montana progress, and his services will be remembered by all those with whom he was associated or for whom he worked, the people of the state. Friend and foe alike join to pay tribute to Joseph M. Dixon; allies and opponents mourn his death. His services to the state of Montana and the state university have never been fully recognized, and probably never will. However, you of the state university are the ones who have benefitted from his services—pause a moment and pay tribute to one of Montana's truly great men.

We're With You, Grizzlies!

Tomorrow afternoon the state university's track and field team meets the University of Idaho in a dual meet which has become an annual competition between the two squads. Coach Harry Adams' squad was nosed out last year in one of the closest and most thrilling meets that the state university has ever encountered. This year he again takes his men to Moscow to get revenge on the Vandals for last year's defeat.

The Grizzlies are going to Moscow as underdogs in this meet, and the Idaho team will have an edge in experience and seasoned material. However, the Grizzlies will be going to the meet with their customary spirit and will to win and they should make the contest a close, interesting one for the Vandals. Idaho has met two conference rivals and one non-conference rival, whereas the Grizzlies have had but one meet this year—the annual state intercollegiate meet.

The state university will be facing odds at the Moscow meet, and the team will profit by any show of enthusiasm and backing it receives from the student body. It is a difficult task to make a good showing against a strong team such as Idaho, and it is more difficult to face a strange, hostile crowd as the Grizzlies will face at Moscow. Idaho will have more than its share of fans, all of them eager for their team to win. The state university students can not be there to cheer their favorites, but they should be able to do a bit toward making the Grizzlies know they are behind them.

Why not count your extra change and send the Grizzlies a telegram, letting them know you are behind them as they prepare to meet the Vandals? Let them know in some way that you are behind them every inch of the way. And if they do lose or if they do win, meet them when they come back and show them that—win or lose—you are proud of them. It is your duty and privilege to say to them, "Fight 'em, Grizzlies, we're behind you!"

What Are Your Summer Plans?

Only one more week of school? Yes, and only two more weeks until school starts again. The summer session begins Monday, June 11, and ends Friday, August 10. After having gone to school for more than eight months, most of us don't relish the idea of putting in our vacation in the same fashion. But for those of us who don't have summer jobs or need a few extra credits, summer school is just the thing. It isn't an imposition, as some people think, for the informal attitude that pervades the campus makes the summer quarter perhaps the most enjoyable of the entire year.

And studying isn't the only feature of summer school. So that people may take advantage of the courses offered, and at the same time have a vacation, numerous week-end trips and picnics are sponsored by the university. These, along with the excellent athletic facilities available here, serve to make school life really enjoyable.

In addition to the regular courses offered by the arts and sciences department, business administration, education, journalism and music schools, there are to be two special conferences. The Montana Conference of Educational Problems brings educators from various parts of the country to aid the many school teachers and principals who come here. The Writers' conference offers an opportunity for students to meet and hear writers of note and also to develop their own talent under professional supervision.

The program for summer session has many features to appeal to special or graduate students, but for those of us regular students who have no other summer plans, the session offers us a chance to spend our time gaining more education and, at the same time, the same facilities for recreation.

Who, Us?

Bringing to me
A strange delight.

Haffinech was out at the Dutch Mill with several of the boys last night and as a result he is indisposed today.

Which is unfortunate as Ossia Taylor has been attempting to find him.

Or was the Alpha Phi house-party the cause of Haffinech's present state?

Dean Binge remarked yesterday that the Heiberg-Henrikson affair was beginning to look like another foreign entanglement.

I had an opportunity to buy a yak the other day, but it is perhaps just as well that I didn't make the purchase as I have no yaking costume.

THE THETA'S LAMENT

I loved a man:
He loved me, too—
At least I thought he did;
But now I am
An "also ran"—
A poor, heartbroken kid.
My sisters said,
And they were right,
"You haven't a chance to win.
He is in love,
He might yet wed
But he won't hang his pin."
I heard all that,
I thought of it,
My mind it did work fast.
To him I said
(Oh, what a cat!)
"Our love will always last."

But now I know
Where're I go
That loving is a sin.
For all my line,
And all my show—
A Kappa got his pin.

Gordon Cunniff asked Ellen Miller, the campus Mae West, to "Cunniff and see him some time."

And she replied, "I Cunniff I want to. But that's Cunniff of that."
Well, I'm glad that's over.

Young Art Students To Show Drawings

More Than Two Hundred Designs Displayed in Show Room

The work of the students of the Lincoln school will be placed on display at the Hammond Arcade building this week. The exhibit will include more than two hundred drawings and designs, the work of students under the direction of Vera Brunner, former university student.

This is the eighth of the series of exhibits sponsored by the art department through the courtesy of Oakley Coffee and the Missoula Drug company.

Mitchell Sheridan of Butte, who received a B.A. degree in journalism in 1933, will be a week-end guest at the Sigma Nu house.

Tuesday, May 29

Kappa Alpha Theta . . . Dinner Dance

The social season of the sororities and fraternities draws to a close for another year. Sigma Nu, Delta Gamma and Kappa Alpha Theta will entertain at formals while Kappa Delta and Phi Delta Theta will hold the final firesides of the season. The events scheduled on the calendar for this week-end will afford the last opportunity for the students to be together as next week will see another senior class graduated from the university.

Dinner Dance

Members of Sigma Nu will entertain this evening at a spring dinner dance at the Florence hotel. Dancing will follow at the Old Country club. Chapters for the evening are Dr. and Mrs. Harry Turney-High, Major and Mrs. George Lambertson Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John Lucy. A number of alumni will be in Missoula for the occasion.

At the Sororities and Fraternities

Mother's club of Alpha Phi met at the chapter house Friday.

Orville Skones was a Thursday luncheon guest at the Delta Sigma Lambda house.

Catherine Dunn of Deer Lodge was a Tuesday guest at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

Adelaide Olinger of Great Falls was a guest at the Delta Delta Delta house Monday.

Mrs. Laura M. Carter of Livingston has been a guest at the Sigma Kappa house for the past few days.

Dr. R. H. Nelson, Mr. R. H. McCabe, Mr. L. C. Ennis and Mr. Earl Clute were Thursday dinner guests at the Phi Delta Theta house.

Margaret Johnston and Elizabeth Schubert were Wednesday dinner guests at the Sigma Kappa house.

Alpha Tau Omega entertained its Mothers' club at a theater party Tuesday evening.

Jean Waterbury and Ellen Galusha will be week-end guests at the Delta Gamma house.

Charles McDonald of Alberta, Canada, was a guest at the Phi Delta Theta house this week.

Ruth Harris and Madge Martin were Monday dinner guests at the Sigma Nu house.

Dick Lane, a member of the Washington State chapter of Sigma Nu, is a guest at the Sigma Nu house.

Bob Hanson, Polson, was a guest at the Sigma Nu house Wednesday and Thursday, en route to Bozeman.

Thursday dinner guests at the Kappa Alpha Theta house were Elizabeth McCoy, Mildred McDonald and Martha Phyllis Busey.

Tuesday dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma were Judy Latta, Barbara Harris and Marion Mix.

Katherine Minnaugh, Katherine Smeltzer and Grace Parker were dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma Thursday.

Kathryn Sinnott will be the Friday dinner guest of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

A birthday dinner for seniors of Kappa Delta was given Thursday by alumnae members of the sorority. Guests were Lotus McKelvie, Genevieve Krum, Jeannette Eldering, Olive Midgett, Emily Mills, Catherine Eammon, Dora Jacobson and Dorothy Leonard.

Alpha Phi Party

Mrs. Maude Betterton acted as chaperone to 20 couples who spent the week-end at Seely lake. The party returned Sunday.

Members of Alpha Phi held a Junior-Senior dinner at Happy Bungalow Wednesday evening.

Corbin Hall

Lucille Lindgren was the Monday dinner guest of Peggy Wilcox.

Margaret Renison was Bernice O'Rourke's dinner guest Monday.

Miss Helen Gleason was the dinner guest of Helen Spencer, Wednesday. Librarians staying at Corbin hall for the Montana Library convention are Mrs. Emily Benson of Havre, Miss Louise M. Fernald of Great Falls, Miss Ellen Torginson of Fort Benton, Mrs. Margery Bedinger of Butte, Miss Geneva Cook of Bozeman and Mrs. Helen Miller of Helena.

Fanny Warner Bovee of Butte was the Monday dinner guest of Martha Warner.

Miss Angela La Casse was the Wednesday dinner guest of Elma Cerise.

North Hall

Dean Stone Night Planned By Shack

Journalists Will Have Picnic Next Week Honoring School Head

Plans for Dean Stone night, which is to be held Memorial day, May 30, in Greenough park, are nearly completed. Tevis Hoblitt is in charge of the event. Lois Morris is head of the refreshment committee, Hermina Girson is in charge of the transportation, and Bill Giltner heads the entertainment committee.

Invitations have been sent to 150 alumni and all members of the journalism school are urged to attend.

The tradition of Dean Stone night was started in 1920 at the suggestion of Dean J. E. Miller at a press club picnic, as a tribute to the seniors in the journalism school to Dean Stone. It has been carried out every year and is held the latter part of the spring quarter.

George DeVoe will visit in Kalispell this week.

Musical Program

Mary Brickson and Janice Koppe Present Piano, Vocal Recital Tuesday

Tuesday night's concert in Main hall proved one thing—those students who have not attended the music school program—and they are free—are missing some of the finest and most cultural things to be found at the state university. Approximately one hundred people heard the concert, but it deserved one thousand hearers, for it was as fine a concert as Dean DeLoss Smith and the music school have ever presented—and that is saying quite a lot.

The concert featured Mary Brickson, pianist, and Janice Koppe, soprano, with Bernice Berry Ramskill accompanying the vocal numbers.

If the applause of the audience is to be taken as an indication of the success of certain numbers, Miss Koppe's singing of Novello's "The Little Damozel," and Miss Brickson's interpretation of the difficult "Etude Concert in D Flat Un Sopriro" by Liszt were the outstanding pieces on the program. But there were so many fine interpretations, so many songs sung with feeling and grace, so many piano selections played with a technique that seemed more like a professional artist's, that to single out one or two pieces for special comment would be unfair to the others.

The wizardry of Dean DeLoss Smith of the music school was everywhere noticeable. Miss Koppe has worked long and earnestly under Dean Smith and with happy results. Some of her songs were more than a little reminiscent of Virginia LeRae's a few weeks ago. Miss Koppe's tones were always true and clear, and even the very high notes—and there were many of them—were clear and sweet. And most equally important—her enunciation was truly excellent. Dean DeLoss Smith may well be proud of her achievement.

But Miss Koppe did not steal the honors. She shared them equally with Miss Brickson, who played with a technique and feeling that thrilled the audience. The Liszt selection was her best one. But the resounding bass of Vogrich's "Staccato-Caprice," a bass which swells and subsides and swells again, is not an easy thing to play. Nor were the selections from Beethoven easy, but Miss Brickson played them with a familiarity, an ease of expression, and a sureness that was almost professional.

The reviewer could write much more about the brilliant program Tuesday evening. But it should be stated that it was pitiful that such a small group attended. The concert was free. It took but an hour from the opening number until the last one. But into that hour was packed one of the best concerts that DeLoss Smith and the music school have ever presented. After this performance and the other performances—notably the glee clubs' programs—of the music school during the year, the state university can feel safe in entrusting to the music school next year's operetta which is to replace Hi-Jinx.

Grant Raitt, Frank Hazelbaker and Bill Whitehead are attending the Miles City Jubilee.

Grizzlies Leave Today For Moscow in Effort To Crush Idaho Vandals

Coach Harry Adams' Eighteen-Man Squad Is Judged Strong Enough To Present Solid Front to Enemy; First Places Probably To Be Evenly Divided; Dahlberg's Leg Ails

Montana Grizzlies and Idaho Vandals clash tomorrow at Moscow in what promises to be one of the fastest and closest track and field meets ever held in the long-standing feud between the two schools. Coach Harry Adams and Manager Harold Kolhase, accompanied by a squad of eighteen men, leave for Moscow this afternoon. Team members making the trip include Captains Hawke and Caven, Peden, Duff, Robertson, Vickerman, Taylor, Rutherford, Grat-tan, Wigal, Davis, Reynolds, Rhinehart, Steensland, Bernhard, Price, Stans-berry and Dahlberg. In case Dahl-berg's ailing leg is not better by train time, Frisbie will make the trip in his place.

Idaho Loses Two
Coach Otto Anderson's squad has dropped two close meets to Wash-ington State college, conference titlehold-ers, and Oregon State college, while the only Grizzly meet this year has been the state intercollegiate victory two weeks. Idaho seems to have a slight advantage on paper with first places about evenly divided. Several events are particularly close with prospects for Grizzly wins in many of these events highly probable.

Coach Harry Adams looks to Peden to score triumphs in both sprints, Duff to win the 440-yard dash, Taylor to win the mile and have a chance to upset Livingston, Idaho ace, in the 880-yard run, Robertson or Rhinehart to take the broad jump, Hawke the javelin, and Caven to possibly score a surprise win in the low hurdles.

Relay To Decide
The relay race bids fair to be the deciding factor again this year. Last year's meet was won, 66-64, by Idaho when Livingston retained the Vandal advantage to the tape. Duff, Peden, Price and either Rutherford, Davis or

-:- Sporty Vents -:-

Pre-meet doping continues to be one of the most precarious sports in the athletic world, and, as usual, the paper scores do not figure up with the actual results after the meet is over. How-ever, here are the combined opinions of Coach Adams, half a dozen squad members and the Kaimin observer, on the hopes for the Idaho-Montana meet.

Without Grizzly ballyhoo or prej-udice, the 1934 meet should be seen as one of the closest struggles ever par-ticipated in between the schools. Last year, the Vandals edged out to win in the final event, and this year's com-petition may see the same thing hap-pen. We are guessing the result of the meet to be Idaho, 66; Montana, 60, but maybe we're wrong.

The mile relay may again prove to be the deciding margin of victory, but that race will be well worth seeing in that much of the meet depends on it.

Prospects are also excellent for Coach Adams' men to score at least six points in those events which are now being counted as Vandal points. Caven, Taylor, Rhinehart and Wigal may pull surprises out of the bag in their specialty numbers.

Here's our guess as to the results of the meet: Peden should win the 100- and 220-yard dash events, with Kalbus, Robertson and Ward running in that order behind him. Ward may pull ahead to take a second in the fur-long as that is his favorite event.

Injuries to Duff should not affect him seriously when he is matched with Livingston and Felton, and he should win his race. Livingston has a tough race ahead of him in the half-mile against Taylor of the Grizzlies, but should take that race under good conditions. Brown of Idaho looks like the best bet for third place in the 880-yard run.

Taylor should take the mile event if he runs his usual race, but the other two places look like Vandal contribu-tions. Bowler and Pearson seem to have the two-mile event safely in hand, but Bernhard or Steensland can un-work with nice runs to make a toss-up of that event.

Squance, Idaho ace hurdler, seems to be the best in the conference this year, but Vickerman and Caven will give him all the race he wants. Vick-erman should be in line for a great race in the high barriers, while Caven's recent time in the low hurdles mark him as a real contender for Squance.

Robertson, Rhinehart and Grat-tan seem to have the broad jump sewed

Masquers Make Plans for Picnic

Shaw Urges Those Contemplating Trip To Sign Names

Plans for the annual Masquer picnic which will be held Sunday, May 27, in the Rattlesnake valley, are nearing completion. Cars will leave the Little Theatre at 3 o'clock. Transportation has been provided for members of the band and the baseball team.

Outstanding events of the day will include baseball, games and races, and the awarding of medals. Harold Shaw, president of the Masquers, urges all those planning to attend to sign up before Friday.

Fritz Represents State University At Eastern Meet

Was Graduated With Class of '29; Attends Delaware University Commemoration

Nelson Fritz, a graduate of the fore-stry school, represented the state uni-versity at the commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Uni-versity of Delaware, May 12, which was commemorated at a gigantic cele-bration.

Fritz, who received a B.S. degree in forestry in 1929, is now district fore-ster in the state department of fore-stry at Salisbury, Maryland. While he was at the university, he was a mem-ber of Silent Sentinel, Phi Sigma, na-tional honorary biological fraternity; Masquers, Druids and Central board. He was business manager of the For-estry Kaimin in 1926, editor in 1927 and 1928, and yell king during both latter years. He was also a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity. Fritz wrote that "aside from having a delightful time myself, I considered it a privilege and a pleasure to rep-resent Montana at this gala occasion. All of the programs were very inter-esting and the historical pageant was one of the finest I have ever seen."

Board Plans Homecoming During Game

Malcolm Stotts Is New Football Manager; Scheuch, Smith On Committees

Malcolm Stotts, San Francisco, Cali-fornia, was appointed football man-ager for the 1934 season at a meeting of Central board Tuesday. Stotts has served as freshman football manager and assistant varsity manager for the past two years here.

Central board also made plans for a homecoming program during the Idaho game next fall. Committees will be selected to make the arrangements for the program next fall.

Two new members were added from the faculty to serve on committees working in conjunction with Central board next year. Dean DeLoss Smith of the music school was selected as a member of the Outside Entertain-ment committee, and Dr. F. C. Scheuch was selected as a faculty member of the Traditions committee. Student members for these two groups were chosen last week at a meeting of the board.

Marvin Smoot and Kenneth Spauld-ing, both of Missoula, were appointed by the board to serve as junior varsity football managers for next year, work-ing under Stotts. Spaulding was freshman manager last year, and Smoot was assistant manager. Members of Central board voted to discontinue the annual picnic held every year by members of the new board for old members.

Attendants Chosen For Queen of May

Olive Midgett Is Honored Woman; Ossia Taylor Makes Selections

Drouth Extensive In Other States, Nelson Reports

Forestry Professor States That Water
Scarcity Is Serious
In West

Associate Professor E. W. Nelson of the forestry school returned Wednesday from a short trip to Ogden, Utah, where he made preparations for the moving of his household goods to Missoula and completed some forest service work there.

"The drouth not only extends throughout Montana but continues to Idaho and is very severe in Utah where water is becoming scarce for culinary and irrigation purposes," Professor Nelson stated as the most noticeable thing on the trip. "The range feed for livestock as well as water is getting to be serious. Measures are being formulated to develop more water in various sections.

"Ordinarily we have found deep snow in the mountains until the Fourth of July but on this trip we had no difficulty in crossing the highest of the passes in our automobile."

P. O. Keeney Is Chairman Of Meeting

Association of Montana Librarians
Opens Three-day Session
At State University

The Montana Association of Librarians met in the small reading room in the library, May 24 at 9:30 o'clock for the first general meeting of the three-day convention.

Approximately twenty-five librarians attended the meeting. Mr. Philip O. Keeney acted as chairman and routine matters were discussed. The meeting adjourned at 11 o'clock to attend the convocation at Main hall.

Dean Stone talked to the delegates at 2 o'clock on "The Story of Montana." Mrs. C. H. Clapp then spoke to the librarians on "Montana Women Poets." In her talk Mrs. Clapp pointed out the poor facilities for Montana poets to have their work printed. Mrs. Clapp also mentioned that the women do not put enough time and effort on their work and are unmindful of the possibilities of Montana history and scenery for inspirations for poems. Other events yesterday and today were:

Thursday 4 o'clock—Tea at the home of Mrs. M. J. Hutchens, given by Mr. and Mrs. Philip O. Keeney. 8 o'clock—Corbin hall. Reading of "Ah, Wilderness!" by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hewitt.

Second general meeting (Friday): 8:30 o'clock—Missoula public library. Leaders, Misses Fernald, Bodinger, Feighner.

1:30 o'clock—State university library. Leaders: Mrs. Garber, Misses Main and Torgimson.

The program for the remainder of the convention will be as follows: Friday, 7 o'clock—Dinner at the Florence hotel given by the librarians of Missoula in honor of the visiting librarians.

8:45 o'clock—Missoula public library. Address by Mr. J. B. Speer, registrar of the state university.

Third general meeting, 9 o'clock—State university library.

Saturday afternoon—Annual state university library picnic to which everyone is invited.

Fighting Grizzly

R. O. T. C. Insignia Used Here
Since 1923 to Be Changed for Improved Design.

By a vote of 156 to 96, R. O. T. C. students voted last Monday afternoon to wear the fighting Grizzly insignia which has been proposed by local officers of the corps.

The insignia which has been in use since 1923 was designed and adopted to distinguish the R. O. T. C. uniform from that worn by regular army men, as both uniforms were identical in every respect. During recent years, a distinctive R. O. T. C. uniform has been issued making the insignia unnecessary, and it was decided by popular vote to adopt a new type.

The insignia which has been selected is made of copper, silver and gold materials and consists of a Grizzly's head, mouth open, snarling, eyes glaring and one paw with claws extended showing under its lower jaw. It is a great improvement over the old insignia which many mistook for another animal and few guessed to be a portrayal of the fighting Grizzly spirit.

Because of the added labor necessary in making the new insignia and the higher cost of materials, the later model will probably cost 40 cents.

Dispensing Students Take Examinations

Grand Prize Is Awarded to Best
Participant in Competition

The dispensing class took a competitive examination last week which was given to students of all the northwestern colleges of pharmacy. The examination was concerned with the scientific prescription pricing and was sponsored by the Pacific Drug Review, Portland, Oregon.

One grand prize, a three-year subscription to the Pacific Drug Review journal, is given and in addition a one-year subscription to the journal to the winner in each school that competes. Robb V. Rice, Missoula, a student of the state university won the grand prize last year, and Robert Corkish, Butte, won first place in the university.
